white tunic dress

An ultraslinky piece gets extra mileage in the hands of these stylish women.

STRETCH COTTON TUNIC, $216, CHAIKEN LUCY'S, WESTPORT, CT, 203-227-4729

sleek

Working in the frilly, feminine boutique Debra Rodman in New York City, Stephanie Yeomans, 25, likes to dress the part. "I wear pretty, very girly dresses for work," she says. Off-hours, the Montreal-born freelance designer chooses a more pared-down, easy look—and this tunic fits the bill. "It's supercomfortable, especially with the tights underneath it. And the long jacket really makes the white stand out." Yeomans also fell in love with this textured, oversize bag. "It's practical but also completely fun and unique."

LONG COTTON KNIT CARDIGAN, $144, COUSIN JOHNNY. THE STUDIO, BROOKLINE, MA, 617-738-5091. CABLE-KNIT TIGHTS, $15, VIA SPIGA. SELECT LEG RESOURCE, 877-347-6267 FOR LOCATIONS. VELVET "BARDWILL" HEELS, $390, SALVATORE FERRAGAMO, 800-628-8916 FOR STORES. DISTRESSED METALLIC BAG, $68, RAMPAGE HANDBAGS, RAMPAGE.COM

“The simplicity of this look is amazing—just black, white, and silver—but it's so eye-catching.”

“A shimmery, ruffly jacket makes the toned-down basics underneath feel so dressed-up.”

rocker-y

This thin cotton piece fits right into fashion student and California native Laura Bordelon's relaxed wardrobe. "It doesn't weigh me down," she explains. "I could wear it alone with a belt around it, but with jeans and the jacket it looks so rich." Plus, it gives Bordelon, 20, a canvas on which to play with accessories. "I love how this chunky chain necklace toughens things up." The subtle suede boots complete the outfit: "They're ideal to wear under skinny pants because they're short, not bulky, and have the best, not-too-pointy toe."
